SPOKANE VALLEY, WASHINGTON -- (Marketwire - Mar 2, 2015) - Revett Mining Company Inc. (NYSE MKT:RVM) (TSX:RVM) today announced that the transition to care and maintenance at the Troy Mine was successfully completed during February 2015.

Mining operations ceased at the end of January 2015 and an orderly shutdown of milling operations and transition to care and maintenance occurred during February, 2015. Total production since resuming limited milling operations in mid-November 2014 yielded 624 dry tons of concentrates containing 79,116 ounces of silver and 340,456 pounds of copper. A qualified care and maintenance team consisting of eight Troy Mine employees is now in place. The Troy Mine continues to report a strong safety record while winding down operations and transitioning to care and maintenance having now completed nearly two and a half years without a lost time accident or reportable injury.

The Company remains focused on the advancement and completion of permitting the Rock Creek project. The U.S. Forest Service has circulated the Draft Supplemental Environmental Impact Statement (SEIS) to co-operating agencies for review and expects that the SEIS will be issued in the second quarter of this year for public comment.

John Shanahan, Revett's President and CEO stated, "Despite the difficult decision to place the Troy Mine on care and maintenance, we remain ever grateful for the professional manner in which operations at the Troy Mine were wound down. Our experiences at the Troy Mine, both during operations and care and maintenance periods, remain an important component in our ability to complete permitting and bring the world class Rock Creek project to fruition."
